

The University of Michigan Residency in Dental Public Health

The Department of Community Dentistry, School of Dentistry and the Program in Dental Public Health, School of Public Health, are co-sponsoring a one-year Dental Public Health Residency, to begin in January 1985. Residents who already have a one-year MPH degree will thus complete their educational requirements for specialist certification by the American Board of Dental Public Health. The residency includes selected academic coursework, and supervised practical experiences both through the Program in Dental Public Health and the Department of Community Dentistry. Residents will have the opportunity to participate in ongoing teaching and research commitments; the residency experience is based on guidelines established by the American Board of Dental Public Health. Potential areas of involvement include Health Care Services, Behavioral Science, Cost Effectiveness, Epidemiology, Computer Systems, and others. Facilities and faculties at both schools will be available, and the resources of the University at large are also accessible.

Financial support includes stipend plus tuition. Applicants must apply to and be accepted by the School of Public Health; enrollment forms are available from Dr. Brian Burt (address below). Applicants must already have completed an MPH degree or equivalent from an accredited School of Public Health. Application deadline is November 15, 1984. Send completed applications to:
