Outlines

- Historical Value of the Prange Collection
- Preservation, Search, and Access

Why the Prange Collection?

- To complement the NDL's postwar collection
- No national depository system from August 1945 to May 1948
(Enactment of the National Diet Library Law in Feb. 1948)
- Issue years of the Prange materials
October 1945-November 1949

Why from Oct. 1945 to Nov. 1949?

- Censorship operation for all civilian communication (personal correspondence, telephone calls, radio broadcasts, films and publications)
- The Civil Censorship Detachment (CCD): Military Intelligence Unit (G-2) of the SCAP
- Japanese publishers submitted two copies of proposed publications to the CCD for review

Why UMD?

- Dr. Gordon W. Prange (1910-80)
UMD Faculty/SCAP commander
- Arranged the CCD library holdings to be archived at UMD after the dissolution of the censorship operation in November 1949

BOOKS IN THE PRANGE COLLECTION

There are approximately 71,000 book titles in the Prange Collection. In 2005, the UMD Libraries, in partnership with the National Diet Library of Japan, began a project to digitize the entire monograph collection. The children's books constituted phase one of the project; they have all been digitized. For guidance on searching and accessing the children's books, please go to this page.

The following books are currently being digitized and may not be requested for use (as of February 2018): Education Books with the Call numbers 141-0001~153-0025, 156-0001~171-0016, 176-0001~179-0034, 375-0001~388-0043)

How to SEARCH the Censored Books

Online Catalog: The censored books can be located by doing an Advanced Search in the UMD Libraries Online Catalog. In the "search for words in..." field, select "notes" in the dropdown menu, and enter "検閲" (censored) or "断片"(fragment). Then limit the search by either selecting "Prange Collection" in the "location" field or "Prange" in the "named collection" field. (Not all censored materials are catalogued.)

Inventories: Click on the links below for inventories of censored books and fragments of books. These inventories also include manuscripts and galley proofs, whether they were censored or not.
