People comingout of our main gate on Christmas Day, 1931, after the service in the church.

The man with a felt hat is our doctor, Harold Henke, from St. Louis.

Crowd going in the front gate to the Christmas Day service, 1931. The gate at the side leads to the hospital. The children use the stone banister for a slide and have worn it smooth and shiny! I tried to catch one sliding but missed him. They are at it every day and all day. The inscription at the side of the gate is a notice to the effect that it is December 25, 1931, Christmas Day.

Many of the children have Christmas cards in their hands. See the rickshaw in the foreground. The women wear short coats and trousers, the men wear long
