

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Several months ago, we invited the members of our editorial board to propose topics and nominate guest editors for special issues of Small Group Research. The response was overwhelming. The first two special issues, tentatively scheduled for August and November 1993, are

“JEMCO: A Longitudinal Study of Change and Technology in Work Groups”

JOSEPH E. McGRATH

University of Illinois

and

“Intergroup Relations”

ULRICH WAGNER and RUDOLF FISCH

Ruhr-Universität Bochum Hochschule Speyer

In addition, work is in progress on three other special issues, to appear in the 1994 and 1995 volumes of Small Group Research. These are

“Group Support Systems”

LEONARD M. JESSUP and JOSEPH S. VALACICH

CSU at San Marcos

Indiana University

“Social Cognition and Social Interaction”

JUDITH NYE

Monmouth College

“Research Problems and Methodology”

JOANN KEYTON

Memphis State University

Further special issues are currently under discussion.

Last year, we published our first Comment and Reply section in the May issue. We would like to again invite readers to submit brief comments on recently published articles. These comments, if accepted for publication, will be sent to the authors of the original article and their reply will be published along with the comment. Finally, we welcome your comments and suggestions for improving the quality of the journal.

Charles Garvin
Ann Arbor, Michigan
Richard B. Polley
Portland, Oregon