House Higher Ed Appro Comm:	???	???

Notes:

* Effective increase in UM FY87-88 General Fund Budget (i.e., net 0.75% Executive Order cut)
 Takes into account difference in UM and State fiscal years (i.e., includes $3.0 M from last quarter of State FY88)

Caveats:

State may not have revenue to sustain even this appropriation

A Reminder

Indirect Cost Recovery:

Growth in sponsored research Increase in ICR rate	$5.9 M
Interest:	$0.7 M
Tuition and Fees:	?

The Bottom Line...

So what can we do about it?

Cost Reduction Measures:

- Reduce salary program
- Cancel or defer all but absolutely essential expenditures
- Launch administrative efficiency efforts

Internal Reallocation:

- University Initiative Fund (1% "off the top" = $5.1 M)
- Internal reallocation at unit level (1% or greater)

Revenue Measures:

- Tuition and fees
- Transfers from one-time funds (ICR, UIPDI)

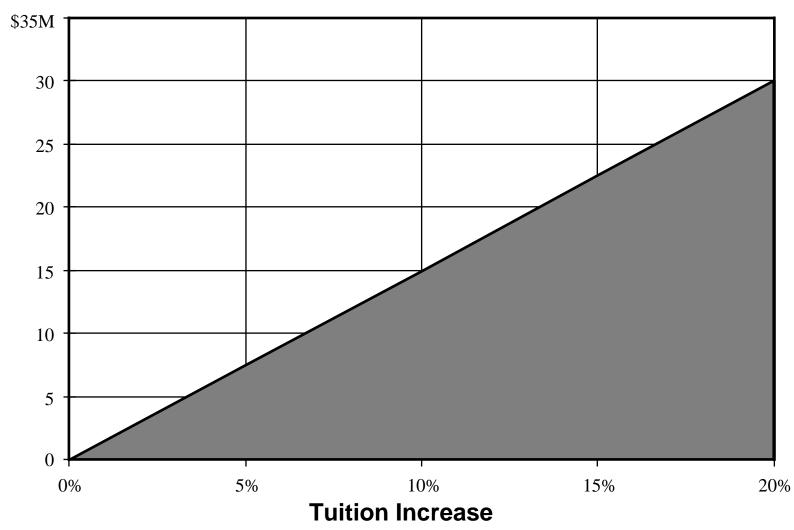

Some Useful Calibration Measures

State Appropriations for Higher Education in Michigan

A Brief History

A Shift in Public Policy

- The evolution of our public institutions has been shaped by the public principle: the public university is established and supported through general taxation to benefit society. The basic premise is that support should be by society as a whole since society gains benefits from the institution, just as do those individuals participating in its particular educational programs.
- Yet, in recent years, both state and federal government have taken actions which shift the costs of public higher education from general tax revenue to the students (and their parents) who benefit most directly from this education.

The Costs of a Michigan Education

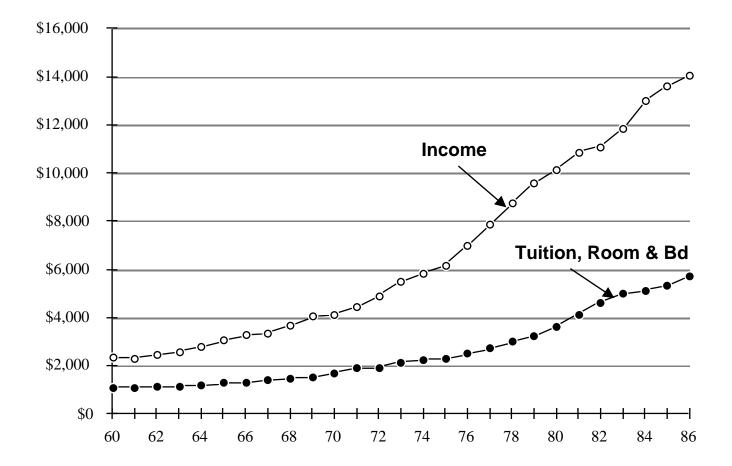

Some Observations on the Costs of a College Education

- 1. From 1970-71 to 1986-87, tuition nationwide has risen at an average rate of 7.8% while the CPI rose at 6.7%.
- 2. However, there have been studies demonstrating that the costs of college operations generally increase 1.5% to 2.0% faster than the CPI on the average.
- 3. Because most institutions failed to raise tuitions adequately in the 1970s, they are being forced to raise them more rapidly in the 1980s to make up for lost ground.
- 4. Public institutions have also been impacted by government policy decisions to shift the costs of education from general tax revenue to the students (and parents) who benefit from the education.

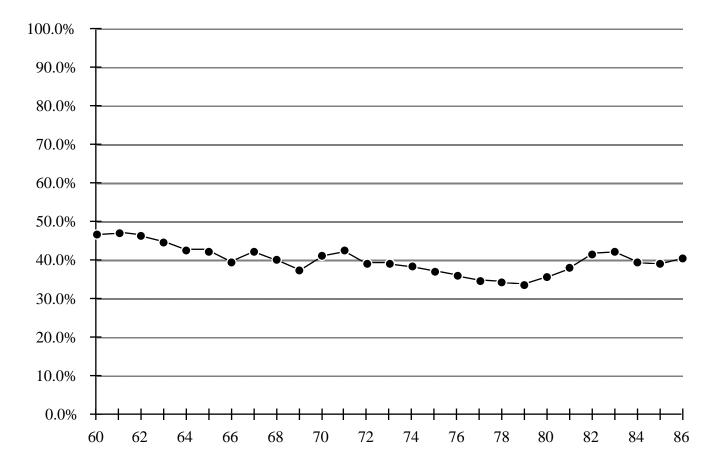

The Ability to Pay for a College Education

- 1. Tuition increases are NOT increasingly dramatically faster than disposable personal income. Over the past 15 years, tuition has increased 232% while personal income has risen 252%.
- 2. Over the past two decades there has been very little change in the percentage of income required to meet tuition costs.
- 3. Indeed, college expenses have risen far more slowly than many other costs, such as the costs of a new home or the costs of health care.

Tuition Costs for a Michigan Resident at the Top Universities

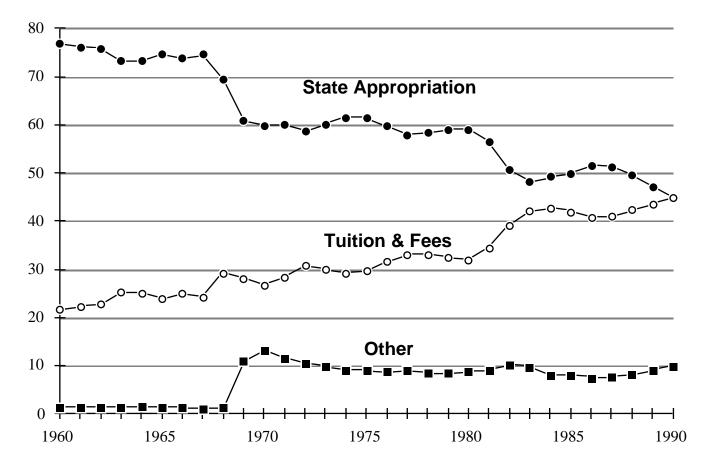

The Challenge of Excellence

- 1. Today, the University of Michigan attracts students and faculty of unmatched quality. We have a responsibility to develop this vital human resource to the fullest through academic programs of outstanding quality.
- 2. Furthermore, our capacity to serve the State of Michigan and its citizens will be determined by, more than any other factor, the quality of our programs.
- 3. Yet, by any measure, our academic programs continue to be underfunded by a very significant amount in base support relative to peer public and private institutions.
- 4. Even as we commit ourselves to serving the people of Michigan, we must also recognize the true costs of quality and take steps to provide the support necessary to sustain it.

The Writing on the Wall

- 1. In a very real sense, the growth in the capacity of the University to serve the citizens of the state of Michigan is being provided predominantly by our students, private donors, and the federal government. The growth in state appropriations simply has not kept pace over the past two decades with the very real needs of this University.
- 2. Our capacity to attract these resources, to compete for federal grants, to attract strong private support, will be determined, more than by any other factor, by our excellence--the quality of our activities in teaching and research.
- 3. Here, then, is one of the most important--albeit pragmatic--links between the excellence to which we aspire and our capacity to serve the citizens of this state.
