Preparer’s Thoughts and Analysis
Introduction

In 2006, the Skillman Foundation embarked on a 10-year mission to improve the outcomes for children living in six neighborhoods in the city of Detroit. The intent was to accomplish this through a major community change initiative called Good Neighborhoods Initiative (GNI). This established effort now seeks to create and foster healthy, safe, and supportive neighborhoods that allow for the full development of children and youth.

The six Good Neighborhoods were identified based on a high concentration of children and young people living in low economic neighborhoods and the recognition that all neighborhoods possess assets that can be maximized to enhance the well-being of resident children. The neighborhoods selected were Chadsey/Condon, Vernor, Brightmoor, Cody/Rouge, Osborn and the Northend.

The foundation engaged two key partners to assist in the implementation of the Good Neighborhoods change initiative, The University of Michigan School of Social Work Technical Assistance Center (UM-TAC), and the National Community Development Institute (NCDI). Implementation of the Good Neighborhoods Initiative is modeled on the Skillman Foundation Theory of Change. The change process is based on three phases, namely Planning, Readiness and Transformation.

This retrospective focuses on the Planning Phase and presents an overview of the planning process within the Northend Detroit community. The information contained in this retrospective is reflective only of the data available through files at the UM-TAC and/or content on the Bravelo website. The Bravelo website is an internet-based collaboration tool of the Good Neighborhoods work group.

The purpose of the Planning Phase was to engage residents and community stakeholders in a community-wide planning process that would result in a community goal and action plan that are community-owned and community-driven.
Planning Process
The planning process for the Good Neighborhood Initiative reflects the GNI core goals.

GNI Core Goals

- Community Assets and Initiatives: To maximize the assets, capacity, and impact of resources and institutions in targeted communities.

- Natural Helpers: To enable a cadre of “natural helpers” who are committed to providing services or supports for children.

- Neighborhood-based Human Delivery System: To establish effective neighborhood-based human service delivery systems for children, youth, and families.

- Child-Friendly Spaces: To improve the availability of child friendly spaces and the physical infrastructure of neighborhoods with large concentrations of children.

- Youth Development Programs: To increase opportunities for quality out-of-school time and youth development programs available to children and youth.

- Public/Private Investments: To increase public and private investments in neighborhoods to strengthen services and impact.

- Income and Wealth Building Strategies: To build the resiliency of children and families through income and wealth building strategies.

The plan for entry and recruitment focused on facilitating community engagement meetings, focus groups, and stakeholder meetings. The anticipated goals of these discussions were to gain community commitment to the change initiative, solicit initial input into community issues that impact the well being of children, and gain a commitment to help engage the community in the Good Neighborhoods process.

- Community profile
- Preliminary list of community assets and resources (a “living document” that is updated as the learning grants are completed)
- Selected indicators of child well-being
- Summary of the neighborhood focus groups conducted during the community planning process
- Themes and strategies developed by the small groups during the neighborhood planning process, that lead to the development of your community goal and strategy areas for the action planning teams

Section 3– What We Are Learning About Our Neighborhood Right Now

Action Planning Meeting

- March 29, 2008 5:30pm
- Meeting Location: Wayne State University
- Goals of the meeting: Deciding on a definition of what the Northend’s Response Human Delivery System actually is. The group also identified community assets and needs. Services that were to be provided were then categorized to specifically focus on plans to work toward short and long term goals. Food, Housing, Clothing, Health Care, Mentoring, and Vocational training were all discussed. The four long term goals that were developed were as follows:
  - Implement a coordinated system that will provide access to all residents to human services within the Northend
  - Establish a Northend community team that is knowledgeable of how to access services and support for families, youth, and individuals
  - Create a service product line that will produce job, vocational, and other training, and economic opportunities
  - Begin to create a mechanism for sustainability for all projects that are created for the Northend community

Observations:
- The facilitator of the meeting was Phyllis Edwards. The host agency was Child Care Coordinating Counsel represented by Carole Jasper Quartermann and Denise Wellons-Glover. The resident co-conveners at the meeting were Karla Nash and Lucinda Larkin.
- There were 15 participants at the meeting.
- The time and date for the next action plan meeting (April 8, 2008) was established during this meeting.
Action Planning Teams

Action Planning Teams were formed based on the goals and strategies outlined at the community meetings.

- Attendees voted on the 4 (four) Action Planning teams: Educational Improvement, Enrichment, and Reform; Responsive Youth and Family Human Service Delivery; Neighborhood Empowerment and Beautification; and Crime and Safety.
- Attendees from the Community Large Meetings were invited to join and form the Action Planning Teams based on interest and choice.
- Throughout the Action Planning Team Process, trainings were available for all members of Action Planning Teams. For example, on May 7, 2007, Dr. Larry Gant, Dr. Trina Shanks, and Kristin McGee held a workshop intended to meet other all those involved in an Action Planning Team as well as a template “action plan” and brainstorming session.
- Action Planning Teams also held “Report-Out” meetings for the whole community, in order for NorthEnd residents not involved in a certain Action Plan Team to hear and learn about each team’s progress and events.

Preparer’s Thoughts and Analysis

Analyzing the developmental process which the Northend/Central community has undergone though the GNI project has been an informative experience. The retrospective is an attempt to capture the progress in this community and the amount of dedication, effort, and strategic planning by individuals invested in the development process of this community. The Skillman Foundation and Stakeholders have done an excellent job educating and recruiting members of the Northend/Central community to actively participate as agents of change in the Northend neighborhood.

It is difficult to assess the full impact of the GNI project on the Northend/Central community. A vast amount of information was missing on Bravelo in regards to number of attendees at meetings, meeting notes, and participant reactions to meetings. The documentation that was accessible on Bravelo was inconsistent in quality. It is clear that the lack of critical information on Bravelo makes it difficult to fully analyze and assess the developmental progress in the Northend/Central community. To the extent that documentation was available, the retrospective is a useful instrument to display what work has been done in Northend/Central and what needs to be done for continued success in the future.
