Can a UX Department Really Make a Difference?

Vacek, Rachel

http://hdl.handle.net/2027.42/136223
Can a UX Department Really Make a Difference?

Designing for Digital
April 3, 2017
10:00 - 11:45 am
Introduction of Panelists

1. Name, title, institution
2. Number of people in your department and a general overview of what they do
3. Describe where your department sits within your library’s organizational structure
4. How long has your department existed (as it does now)?
Josh Boyer
Head of User Experience
North Carolina State University Libraries

@jeboyer
jeboyer@ncsu.edu
Dept site: https://www.lib.ncsu.edu/department/user-experience
Courtney McDonald

Head of Discovery and User Experience
Indiana University Libraries

@xocg
crgreene@indiana.edu

Personal site: http://courtneymcdonald.ly/
Dept site: https://libraries.indiana.edu/dux
Dept blog: https://blogs.libraries.indiana.edu/redux/
Debra Kolah

Head of User Experience
Rice University

@debrakolah
dkolah@rice.edu

Personal site: https://effervescentlibrarian.wordpress.com/
Dept site: http://library.rice.edu/ux
Rachel Vacek
Head of Design & Discovery
University of Michigan Library

@vacekrae
rvacek@umich.edu
Dept site: https://www.lib.umich.edu/library-information-technology/design-discovery
Library IT Division blog: https://www.lib.umich.edu/blogs/library-tech-talk
Nadaleen Tempelman-Kluit
@nadaleen

Courtney McDonald
@xocg

Rachel Vacek
@vacekrae

Josh Boyer
@jeboyer

Debra Kolah
@debrakolah

Session: #uxdept
Conference: #d4d17