

Supplementary Figure 1. Quantitative analysis of sFas and sFasL in saliva and serum showing no significant difference between healthy controls and patients with mild or moderate to severe CP ($P > 0.05$). However, an observable increase could be detected when comparing sFas in saliva between the groups.