This is me:

I’ve been with the U-M Library since 2009 (when I graduated from UMSI!)

Work in scholarly communications, online journals, digital humanities projects, open access publishing, research impact, and more.

I am your librarian!
The Library buildings are open...
But that’s not the only way to use the library!

- Ask a Librarian service (chat, text or email with questions)
- Library Search to find books, articles and more
- Contactless pickup for certain materials not available online.
- Study spaces in Shapiro Library, walk-in or by reservation
- Information Science research guide (subject-based resources)
- Individual consultations with me
Why the Library when I have the Internet?

- Access to licensed resources you cannot access on the open web
  - Journals, databases, books, media, and more
- Filters to drive you to curated, high-quality scholarly resources
  - Peer-reviewed resources
  - Subject-focused, carefully curated databases
  - Expert cataloging/indexing
- Expert guidance from real humans
  - Ask a Librarian service
  - LibGuides developed for you
  - 1:1 consultations
Information Literacy criteria still apply!

- Finding high-quality sources
- Finding the best high-quality sources for your purpose

Evaluating information -- Applying the CRAAP Test

- Currency
- Relevance
- Authority
- Accuracy
- Purpose
Thank you! Please be in touch!
