OCCASIONAL PAPERS OF THE MUSEUM OF ZOOLOGY

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN

ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN.

PUBLISHED BY THE UNIVERSITY.

AN ANNOTATED CHECK-LIST OF MICHIGAN
MAMMALS.

BY NORMAN A. WOOD.

The principal work of the Museum, at least during the past 12 years, has been the preservation and organization of the data on the abundance, local distribution and habits of the species composing the Michigan fauna. The task of gathering the data on the mammals has fallen to the writer, but owing to the small number of local naturalists interested in the group, the difficulties in studying the forms, and the fact that much of the writer's time has been consumed in the work on birds, the information at hand is still too meager to permit of the preparation of the proposed monograph on the group.

The present list has been prepared in the hope of stimulating an interest in the subject that will result in the acquisition of additional data. It is based upon the specimens in the Museum, the biological investigations of the Museum and the Michigan Geological and Biological Survey, the references in the literature, and interviews with trappers and local naturalists. To increase the reliability and usefulness of the list only those records are included that the writer believes to be free from doubt, and the nature of the data for each species is given. The "specimens" referred to are in the Museum collection, the "observations" refer to live specimens or fresh skins seen by the writer or Alexander G. Ruthven, and the "records" are the reliable references in the literature, the reports of well-informed observers, and the specimens preserved in other collections. The data is summarized by counties, and for convenient reference a base map giving the political boundaries is added. Observations and records are omitted when they are for counties from which specimens have been secured and deposited in the Museum collection.

It should be pointed out that, while there are doubtless in the Michigan fauna other species than those listed, quite as important as possible additions to the list is complete information on the distribution within the state and the habits of even the most common forms. This is a profitable field of study for local naturalists, as the data to be secured is indispensable to a proper understanding of the mammalian fauna of the state.

In the literature the following species have been erroneously reported from Michigan: Citellus franklinii (Sabine), Reithrodontomys humilis (Aud. & Bach.), Geomys busarius (Shaw), Mustela allegheniensis (Rhoads), Mustela longicauda Bonaparte, Microtus ochrogaster (Wagner), Mustela cicognanii richardsonii (Bonaparte). It should also be stated that the latest study of the woodchucks (Howell, A. H., Proc. Biol. Soc. Wash., XXII, pp. 13-18) recognizes three forms in Michigan, Marmota monax, M. monax rufescens and M. monax canadensis. Previous to this revision all Michigan specimens were referred to M. monax, so that it is not possible to distribute the records among the subspecies with certainty. The writer has arranged the records according to geographic probabilities, grouping them under the subspecies which have been taken in the general region.
