

Animals in Politics and Policy Strategies for Success: US/UK

KIM W. STALLWOOD, Animals and Society Institute

Election 2008 is just around the corner...

How do advocates bring animal issues into the political arena?

Kim W. Stallwood has held leadership positions in animal rights organizations for more than three decades, including executive editor of the Animals' Agenda magazine. A co-founder of the Animals and Society Institute, he now serves as its European Director from his home in England. Kim helped bring animals into the political arena in the UK and is the creator of the Animals' Platform.
