

ARTFUL MARKETING: VISUAL AND AURAL SELLING PRACTICES IN THE SUQS (MARKETPLACES) OF DAMASCUS, SYRIA

by

Laura Kathryn McClellan

A dissertation submitted in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy
(Anthropology)
in The University of Michigan
2010

Doctoral Committee:

Professor Andrew J. Shryock, Chair
Professor Webb Keane
Associate Professor David T. Doris
Professor Marcia C. Inhorn, Yale University

© Laura K. McClellan
2010

Table of Contents

List of Figures	iii
Chapter
1. Introduction	1
2. Dis/Orientations and Suq Topographies	41
3. Fathers and Presidents: Familial and Political Portraiture	82
4. Merchants and Gods: Piety, Trust, and Moral Possibility	119
5. Aesthetics, Poetics, and Captivation	158
6. Conclusion	201
Bibliography	213

List of Figures

Figure

1.1. A shoe merchant with displays of familial and political imagery	7
1.2 A typical religious poster displayed in a produce shop	9
1.3. A decorated strawberry display near Bab Touma	9
1.4. A Saudi clothing shop in Suq Medhat Pasha	21
1.5. A neighboring Saudi clothing shop in Suq Medhat Pasha	21
1.6. A young merchant arranges an apricot display	31
1.7 A poster vendor repositions his merchandise	31
1.8. A toy merchant holds a genealogical chart of the prophet Muhammad	32
1.9. A fabric merchant with a decorative collage of symbols	32
1.10. An ice cream merchant adjusts his display as I take a picture	33
1.11. A photograph of a popcorn cooker at its best	34
1.12. Framing a memorial image makes it “more beautiful” and “stronger”	35
2.1. Bullet holes in the roof of Suq Medhat Pasha.	45
2.2. A provocative poster encouraging the consumption of poultry	47
2.3. A map of the Old City (encircled in black)	49
2.4. Partial view of the New City of Damascus	52
2.5. Peddling second-hand clothing	54

2.6. A typical selection of items for sale in Suq al-Haramiyya	54
2.7. Sadiq Badr and his optometric ‘store’	58
2.8. The newly restored Suq Medhat Pasha on a Friday	63
2.9. Walking through Suq al-Hamadiyya	66
2.10. A peddler of feather dusters in the New City suq of Qassaa	68
2.11. Detailed map showing ‘walk’ from Hamadiyya to Haramiyya	74
2.12. The eastern entrance to Suq al-Hamadiyya	78
2.13. A view from inside Suq al-Hamadiyya, looking west to east	78
2.14. Selling vegetable knives along Revolution Street	79
2.15. Selling belts along Revolution Street, facing south	79
2.16. A vending cart around the Barada River, facing north	80
2.17. Crowds gather around a pedestrian bridge to listen to a spiel	80
2.18. The eastern side of Suq al-Haal, facing north	81
2.19. The northern end of Suq al-Haal.	81
3.1. A wall display of memorial photography with a religious plaque	86
3.2. A digital memorial photograph on display in a photocopy shop	88
3.3. A digital memorial photograph on display in an ice cream shop	88
3.4. A memorial image nestled into a display of tea boxes for sale	90
3.5. A memorial mural with religious text and an ocean view	92
3.6. A billboard in front of Suq al-Hamadiyya declaring ‘God Protects Syria’	95
3.7. A banner giving ‘One Thousand Congratulations’ to the president	95
3.8. A wall display in a tractor parts shop.	101
3.9. A spice merchant works under the gaze of his grandfather	103

3.10. A dry goods merchant poses with a memorial photograph of his father	104
3.11. A collage of memorial photographs watches over a produce shop	105
3.12. “A gift from the dead,” along with other imagery	107
3.13. “A gift from the dead.”	108
3.14. A spatial merging of patriarchs.	111
3.15. An ice cream shop’s visual mélange of family, nation, and God	111
3.16. Family ‘snapshots’ of the Asads also circulate as official portraiture	113
3.17. A front display case of a photography studio.	113
3.18. A self-portrait on display in a butchery near Bab Touma	115
3.19. A close-up of the self-portrait	115
3.20. Hassan shows off a framed article about his shop	116
3.21. A tailor’s collage of self-references	117
4.1. Mahmoud sits in front of his religious display.	121
4.2. A wall display in an ice cream shop on Malik Faisel Street	123
4.3. Usama’s display of religious referents and a ‘no smoking’ sign	124
4.4. A ful cart upon which is painted ‘Allah’ and ‘Muhammad’	126
4.5. A loz akhdar cart with religious stickers and feminized eyes	126
4.6. A cobbler’s Singer sewing machine is protected by evil eye talismans	128
4.7. Apotropaic devices on a displayed on a horse used for watermelon vending	129
4.8. Blue beads and Qur’anic ayat displayed on a woodworking machine	130
4.9. Posters of divine figures preside over cartons of cigarettes in Bab Touma	141
4.10. An illuminated ‘Allah’ on the exterior of a sweet shop	143
4.11. A digital photograph showing celestial light shining down on its recipients	143

4.12. A decorated mirror inside a meat shop.	145
4.13. A cooking pot, used to store daily earnings	148
4.14. A public water fountain outside of the Iranian consulate	148
4.15. Masha'Allah ('God wills it') painted on a gas station wall.	151
4.16. A painted image of the Ka'aba on a public wall in Salahiyya	151
4.17. A digital merging of a baby with God.	155
4.18. A young girl is portrayed against a religious backdrop	155
4.19. A digital hajj photograph on display with memorial images of ancestors	156
5.1. A nighttime display of shoes in Damascus' Old City	161
5.2. A tower of cigarette cartons displayed on a card table in Qassaa	161
5.3. Sheep offal arranged in a display in Suq Bab Sreijeh	162
5.4. A loz akhdar (green almond) display in the New City	163
5.5. A vending cart advertising ful for sale.	163
5.6. Color juxtaposition in a chopped parsley display in Shalaan	167
5.7. Watermelons with tomato ornament in Suq Qazaazeen	167
5.8. Large leaves cover fresh mulberries for sale in Bab Touma	168
5.9. Greenery and flower-themed bowls are displayed alongside mulberry juice	168
5.10. Tirmos (broad beans) for sale in the Salahiyya pedestrian suq	170
5.11. A painted vending cart	180
5.12. A vending cart decorated with tassels and evil eye beads	180
5.13. A bicycle outfitted to vend coffee and tea in Suq al-Hamadiyya	181
5.14. The much-dilapidated, 2009 version of a cart I encountered in 2005	182
5.15. A vendor of roasted peanuts with his hand-crafted cart	183

5.16. A decorated popcorn cart in Salahiyya, from 2006	184
5.17. A decorated popcorn cart in Salahiyya, from 3 years later in 2009	184
5.18. A simply painted shoe shine box	186
5.19. A shoe shine box decorated with colored pin tacks	186
5.20. A shoe shine box decorated with stickers, beads, and other trinkets	187
5.21. A shoe shine box decorated with magazine images and trinkets	187
5.22. A produce stand with fruit posters and strawberry wallpaper	189
5.23. Posters portray an enhanced version of produce for sale	189
5.24. A shop with meat products for sale replicates them on their signage	190
5.25. A family tree of the prophet Muhammad is displayed on a live tree	190
5.26. A pickle shop's signage references its signature design aesthetic	196
6.1. Material excess in the cab of a garbage truck	206
6.2. A decorated mobile trash unit	207
6.3. "His creations in cupboards, tables and seats have conquered the world."	210
6.4. "The artist is strong in his faith in his country's greatness."	210