

Azazels Meeting
October 25, 2002

Host: Jim Duderstadt

Place: Teleconference Room, Media Union, North Campus
(just off the first-floor lobby)

Time: 6:30 pm

Topic: A Tour of the "i Culture": Digital Gadgets and Gizmos

The artifacts of digital technology are propagating rapidly into work, play, learning, entertainment, and the home. These devices have rather profound implications for the university.

This evening has been designed as an evening in the digital world for Azazel members and spouses/significant others and will include hands-on experiences with technologies such as:

- Digital photography
- Digital video and editing "home movies"
- DVDs (both viewing them and making them)
- Wireless technologies (Palm Pilots, G-3 cellphones, Wi-Fi, etc.)
- Digital music (MP3 players, iPods, etc.)
- Digital shopping (Amazon.com, eBay, etc.)
- The new generation of computers (and computer-like devices)
- ...and other gadgets and gizmos

We'll be joined by a few students from the "digital generation" to help us "play" with this technology.
