

Disjuncture, Design, and Disruption: Bridging the gap between students' everyday and academic knowledge through historical inquiry

by

Darin B. Stockdill

A dissertation submitted in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy (Education Studies)
in the University of Michigan 2011

Doctoral Committee:

Associate Professor Elizabeth B. Moje, Chair
Associate Professor Robert Bain
Associate Professor Jesse Hoffnung-Garskof
Associate Professor Carla O'Connor

©Darin B. Stockdill, 2011