Quick Tip of the Month: AccessMedicine

To use AccessMedicine, start from the library homepage at http://lib.umich.edu/thl. Scroll down to the Quick Links section on the left-hand side and select AccessMedicine. Off-campus, you will need to log in with your Level1/Kerberos username and password.

Diagnosaurus is a differential diagnosis tool that utilizes AccessMedicine’s Quick Answers content. Search over 1,000 differential diagnoses by symptom, disease, or organ system. Diagnosaurus is available on the AccessMedicine site and as a free mobile app for Palm, Windows Mobile, Blackberry, iOS, Android, Windows Phone 7.

Mobile Version

Use your iPhone, Android phone, or Blackberry Bold to access essential parts of AccessMedicine. From your mobile device, log in using a personal profile name and password created at www.accessmedicine.com. If you do not have a profile, visit the site on a nonmobile browser, select the "My AccessMedicine" tab, and follow the directions for creating a personal profile.

For iPad users, the screen is sufficiently large and its processor sufficiently complex to accommodate the full site. Users will need to log in to the site remotely as if they were accessing it through a remote computer.

Quick Tip of the Month: UptoDate & Dynamed

UptoDate and Dynamed are point of care resources that support direct patient care, including some Evidence-Based resources. They are highly-structured clinical decision tools that allow information on diagnosis and treatment to be quickly retrieved at the patient’s bedside. These resources synthesize and evaluate the most relevant evidence from the primary clinical literature, and they include detailed summaries of a wide range of conditions and interventions, rationale for patient care decisions, and links to original studies.

Quick Tip of the Month: NIH Public Access Policy

On April 7, 2008, the National Institutes of Health Public Access Policy (NIHPAP) was implemented.

This guide is for NIH grantees and their support staff by providing a clear understanding of the National Institutes Public Access Policy (NIHPAP), how to comply, how to submit manuscripts for which the NIHPAP applies, and how to manage publications in eRA Commons using the My Bibliography portal in My NCBI.
